Committees Struck and Plans for Year Discussed at 1933 Council's First Meeting

The striking of committees for the year, the passing of a resolution empowering the assessor to revalue all lands in town, and the laying of plans for the year were the main portion of the time of the new council, which held its first meeting on Monday evening last.

Four members of the council was in his seat promptly at 8 o'clock. The following constitute the new council: P. H. Holton, president; G. E. Spencer, Crooks, Charters, Shaver, Henning, and Porteous.

At the outset of the meeting the Mayor briefly addressed the council outlining the duty of the various committees and drawing attention to the important matters which the council will be called upon to decide during the year.

H. W. Holton said: "I believe that all of us are unanimous in the opinion that the present year is going to be a difficult one." The question of re-

Bear Lake Mun. Taxpayers Discuss Many Questions

There was a good turnout at the ratepayers' meeting of the Municipalities of Bear Lake, held in the LOOF Hall, Grande Prairie, on Saturday last.

E. J. Holton was elected to the chair and Lawson was then called upon to address the meeting and he gave a lucid and interesting account of his work.

The various concillors were next called upon to give an account of their respective work.

Opening of a road leading from a bridge which was erected over Spring Creek, south of Grande Prairie, was the subject of considerable discussion. Councillor McLevin said that while it would be possible to fix the approaches to the bridge, there was not enough money in sight to open the road.

Wheat weed inspection was the next item on the agenda.

The weed inspection was fully realized. Harry Charters, county supervisor, Mr. Clegg, had done all in his power with the money at his disposal.

A motion to instruct the weed inspector to use his full authority under the act was defeated.

Grass cutting work also came in for its fair share of attention. Finally a motion was carried by C. G. Whitehead in favour of Hugh Doug. That all mows paid off account of taxes, exclusive of road work checks, for which the payee does not specify.

Along The Trail

By J. B. YULE

A CHAT WITH AN OLD FRIEND

The other day I had a nice visit with my old friend, Henry Roberts, who had not seen town since the snow fell last fall. To meet Mr. Roberts, who was here to attend his old school reunion, was an interesting incident.

A Dominion election was pending and a well-known politician by the name of R. H. Whitehead from Nova Scotia and was nominated by the Liberals to contest South Ontario against Mr. C. E. Ross. The Conservatives had a dead coon and the Liberal candidate was the only one in the big parade to be held at Whitley.

The election was a close one, the Liberals winning by a wide margin of a hundred votes. Of course the Liberal candidate was a man named Ira Carpenter, who carried the live coon on his shoulders.

He is another little incident told by Mr. Roberts, which illustrates the progress of the country.

When a lad Mr. Roberts was taken by his father to a man who had a gas station. The man had a son, our old friend, had a handle on it like a nimble or niger. It was hard to sit on the stool as the boy was always trying to get me to sit on him. I think so I observed. The gadget was put into my mouth and the end of it passed through my nose. The next thing I know, I heard the tooth hit the wall. It came out all right. There was no blood.

While looking for material for this column I chance to meet Pete Atkins, who are several of his friends. Of course we were all interested to learn what was going on with him.

Pete was with us again, he was with congenial company. "Pete" was sporting a new pair of sex. Now that he has a new pair of pants for he buys many pairs during the year. But these were not ordinary pants. You see, his work was most unusual and striking. The scheme was a work of art, and the design evidently tried to embody all Scotch plaid, with the predominating.

One of the main charges with Pete was that he was the popular boy with the girls. The "Irresistible Marmaduke" in the play of that name, recently staged in the city, was a copy of Pete's purposes. He even went so far as to charge Pete with being the advanced agent of the "raging" campaign to be put on by the makers. Pete took the "raging" all in good part, insisted that he purchased the sex long before he put them on.

Six or seven days ago he should have a name. It was moved and unanimously carried that he was "Marmaduke."

THE SLEIGH RIDE PARTY

About ten-thirty on Saturday forenoon the gathering gathered at the Grande Prairie Municipal District office on the corner of 10th Street and H. Hunter, C. Young, and J. B. Yule. The reason why this particular office was chosen was that Rev. Joe Tisington was there. Rev. Joe Tisington had agreed to take us all to the Minto Hall. The annual winter poker's meeting was held that afternoon.

Everyone except the drivers sat right down on the bottom of the sleigh, high box offering ample protection from the breezes. There was only one thin strap around each of the weight belts. The Reeve explained that he had discarded the belt purposefully, so that he could speak with Old Man Death and his wife.

The roads, considering the amount of snow which has fallen, were good, except for the fact that we were bound to break trail. The difficulty encountered was when we had to go up to let loaded sleighs pass. It was then the depth of snow was really realized.

Although we were about the first to arrive, we found a good find of cards and the hall was filled with people. There was plenty of ventilation at different points—to use the language of one of the party, "not to waste time."

Before the meeting started we had an opportunity to meet many of the citizens of the municipality, some of whom about twenty years ago helped to erect the hall, now seldom used.

Over the door still hung the word "Teach," which was the motto of it. An old piano was in the corner.

Years ago this hall was the social center of the whole community and I tried to visit it. The walls, which had held within them. Time changes everything and the old hall has given place to a new.

Although the roads in many of the areas represented were very bad, I never heard a man grumble. Some were there from as far away as Terrace Creek, could not help but notice the enthusiasm shown men and women of that of the people of cities and towns when we group. If we have a few blocks to go when the snow is deep, that fact that the men who gathered that day in the historic hall were of hardships, they took things as they came and said nothing about it.

We were home in the middle of the 20-mile trip. The Reeve said he had to return to his home, which meant another four miles. And that was the end of the ride.

I wish to take this opportunity—and I know I am speaking for the entire group—of expressing our thanks to all the trouble he went to in getting us to and from the hall, did the same thing last year.

CURLS THROUGH SENSE OF FEEL

Every banquette has its high lights when it comes to real curling and humorous situations. Here is a little story of a game of curling which took place in the Grande Prairie hospital and it is hard to beat.

It had been a hard day for the game between the Spirit River rink and McKey's. Jim Harrington, who was playing third for McKey had taken a hard blow to the head, so hard that he gave up the delivery of the stone. Steve gave him the broom. Russ heated, scanned the sheet, and then exclaiming, "I'll do it." And he did.

And it is Steve is no small man. Checking up on the cause of the trouble, Russ asked him to skip. The writer discovered that Russ has anything but long sight and really needs a sense of feel. So far as curling at the spirit river goes, he is the only curler in the world with such a fine sense of feeling in a curling stone.

It should be mentioned that Russ played a whale of a game all through the afternoon. The reason he was feeling fine.

Although we were about the first to arrive, we found a good find of cards and the hall was filled with people. There was plenty of ventilation at different points—to use the language of one of the party, "not to waste time."

Before the meeting started we had an opportunity to meet many of the citizens of the municipality, some of whom about twenty years ago helped to erect the hall, now seldom used.

Over the door still hung the word "Teach," which was the motto of it. An old piano was in the corner.

Years ago this hall was the social center of the whole community and I tried to visit it. The walls, which had held within them. Time changes everything and the old hall has given place to a new.

Although the roads in many of the areas represented were very bad, I never heard a man grumble. Some

What One Girl
Wore . . .

CAMPBELL ALL SET FOR GREATEST SPEED BID

Sir Malcolm Campbell poses beside his new Bluebird, in which he will shortly attempt to set up a new land speed record of 300 miles an hour at Daytona Beach. It is understood that this is likely to be the greatest competition in the history of motor racing.

The car is powered with a new Schneider Trophy Rolls Royce engine of nearly 3,000 horse power, which has been lent to Sir Malcolm by the British Air Ministry.

In the spring a young girl's fancy turns to thoughts of a new suit. There is something almost eerie about the way we all think of new suits as soon as the first hint of Spring is in the air.

There are many young women who for years have thought it almost sacrilegious to include a new knit suit in their spring wardrobe. And a very practical and smart costume it is, too.

It is when we are away from our dear ones that we begin to realize how much pleasure there is in sending a letter more often and so "keep in touch." And when we are away from those who are far away, and they won't then think they are out of sight and out of mind.

A Thought For Today:

Treat your friends for what you know them to be. Consider not what they did, but what they intended.

Ooh! haughty life, with its curve of scorn.

Ooh! tame, with contemptuous frown; Time hurries away, make peace while you may.

Forgetful, the sun goes down.

If we only could realize How short is life we live, it'd be no so long inrichting the wrong.

Nor be too proud to forgive.

Didn't See Why

Sonnie: "I'd like to marry Granny when I grow up."

Dad: "But I couldn't let you marry my mother old as she is."

Sonnie: "Why not? You married mine!"

Teacher-taking arithmetic lesson. Now take the Smith family, there's mamma, papa, and the baby. How many toes does that make?"

Smart Boy: "Two and one to carry."

"She was fat and over forty, but she was still a flapper. The young man who was thinking hard for some excuse to escape. At last he murmured,

"Do you remember the youngster who used to tickle you under the chin at school?"

"Oh, she used to do it gushingly, "so that boy was."

"Oh, no," said he blandly, "that was my father."

He had just signed "A. Hog" in the hotel register.

Don't forget to sign your full name!" inquired the pretty and sympathetic clerk.

"My first name's 'Adam,'" grunted the guest.

Major Pitton said the hospital was open to everyone as the best place to go. We all enjoyed the ladies on the wonderful banquet.

"There certainly is a lot of fun to be had in the hospital," said the club.

Once the question of the type of suit is settled, we must start shopping for at least one or two new blouses.

For a rather tallish blouse to complement a girl or business woman, there are many tailored ensembles of fine tweed or solid colors.

Or in the upper sketch we show this type of blouse developed in a soft green ribbed wool with the fabric used in the bias favor.

For a dress wear with the navy or dark tailleur we suggest the other blouse.

JACK TAYLOR LONGING TO GET BACK TO VALLEYVIEW FARM

By the last mail Jim McDonald received a letter from Jack Taylor, who is in Calgary, which contained the news that Taylor won from the big draw in two straight falls.

It is not known here whether or not the draw belongs to the untouchable. So far as Taylor was concerned he evidently drew no estate line, for he turned right away.

Taylor said in his letter that he was longing for spring, when he could set out on his farm at Valleyview.

Want Blessings But Not Willing to Obeys Commands

Taking for his text, "We seek not why," from the 8th chapter of St. John, Rev. Mr. Baxter in his sermon at the Baptist Church on Sunday evening said that the people with too much pride and self-righteousness believe that they wanted the blessings of Christianity but were not willing to obey the commands of Christ.

Mr. Baxter, at the outset of his remarks, recalled the time when Christ was born. How the shepherds and the wise men came to see the Christ and found him. But the Christ they found was not the Christ the people were seeking. The Messiah, who would deliver them from the Roman oppressor, was not the speaker.

He then touched upon the period after Christ had entered his ministry. He pointed out that the reasons why the various groups of people accepted Christ was because of the wonderful miracles he had performed. "They wanted the blessing but not the command."

Mr. Baxter then applied the text to today. He wondered how many people went to church really seeking Christ, but who were more interested in some other thing. People could say that they believed in Christ, but did not give over, but if they did not do what God commands they were not Christians.

The minister said that we should "spend five minutes in the week in worship and then expect hours of Chorus singing."

Coming to the point of the sermon, it was the speaker's opinion that people from accepting Christ and it was unbelief that was keeping people away from the church.

People could say that they believed in Christ, but did not give over, but if they did not do what God commands they were not Christians.

In closing, Mr. Baxter said that it was impossible to be a Jesus Christian unless people are willing that God should rule their lives. "If you are willing to let God into your heart, then He will fulfill that great desire in your life."

Coming to the point of the sermon, it was the speaker's opinion that people from accepting Christ and it was unbelief that was keeping people away from the church.
